

“
 I am not just a HR manager but an employee advocate and a business enabler. I understand business needs and look for talent with the right skillsets, attitudes and values to grow the company.
 ”

*Esther Quek
 Human Resource Manager,
 Charles & Keith Singapore
 Human Capital Partner*

Look beyond qualifications. Hire for skills.

Esther Quek believes that developing employees' skillsets is critical to business success. She looks beyond qualifications when hiring. All employees go through customised skills development programmes to aid their career progression.

The HR team works closely with different business departments to understand their operational needs. These open channels of communication have helped Esther and her team develop progressive people practices critical to business success.

The Institute for Human Resource Professionals (IHRP) helps to enhance your HR expertise and improve your company's HR operations. Contact the IHRP at hello@ihrp.sg today.

Power from your people