At Rolls-Royce, we invest in our people to give them the opportunity to reach their full potential. Together with my HR colleagues, I identify emerging talent and plan programmes to broaden their skills and gain exposure, here and overseas.

Groom local talent. Ready them for the global stage.

Sue Anne Lee and her HR colleagues help local talent gain new skills and knowledge to better serve the business. The Asia Talent Pool programme enables emerging leaders to gain exposure to Rolls-Royce's global markets and operations. The HR team facilitates international assignments, job shadowing, coaching and mentoring and networking for local talent to acquire a diverse range of experiences.

Rolls-Royce's strong belief in growing and grooming their own talent has built up a steady pipeline of experienced leaders for the global stage.
